Flag is flying for cleanest beaches yet

EXCLUSIVE

By Suzi Muston

southend@yellowad.co.uk

SOUTHEND has been awarded the highest number of blue flag awards to reach the "excellent" category for its beaches this year.

The news will mean a massive boost for the area's tourist trade, which amounts to almost £400 million annually.

Four of the eight bathing waters have been ranked "excellent" - up three on last year - with another two beaches rated "good". The blue flag scores fly in the face of the face of stricter EU scoring system for water quality, introduced this year.

The beaches awarded the highest score of excellent are Shoebury East beach, Shoeburyness, Thorpe Bay and Westcliff Bay. The beach at Bell Wharf in Leigh moved up from "sufficient" last year to "good".

Delighted Southend Council chief executive Rob Tinlin exclusively told the YA on Thursday evening that this year's awards were particularly impressive.

He said: "Not only is this the highest number of beaches in Southend to get the highest score ever in it's history, the awards are much more difficult to achieve with the new tougher EU grading system.

"Other seaside towns have found it difficult getting the blue flag this year - we've heard that other resorts have struggled because of this new higher standard."

Cllr Ian Gilbert, deputy leader of the council, said the news will bolster Southend's image as a quality seaside destination. He said: "Tourism is worth £380m for Southend's economy and a large draw to our six million annual visitors, so the importance of clean bathing water cannot be understated. To improve our ratings despite the bar having been raised is extremely encouraging and a testament to the effective joint working between the council, Anglian Water and the Environment Agency to improve infrastructure and tackle pollution head-on."

"That said, we will not rest on our laurels but continue to push for even cleaner beaches for the enjoyment of our residents and visitors alike."

The authority has worked with Anglian Water and the Environment Agency to repair 133 drains that had been releasing raw sewage into the estuary.

Launch of ambitious caring on sea project

SCORES of campaigners packed Thorpe Bay's Roslin Beach Hotel to hear about a new project called caring on sea.

Around 60 people flocked to the waterfront hotel to hear about one of the group's many initiatives including beach access for disabled people and the creating of high-tech changing facilities inside the former tram shelter in Thorpe Bay.

Tram Stop Shelter campaigner Bob Craven told the crowd: "One of our aims is to improve access to the beach for everyone."

"We carried out an enormous survey of beach access from Shoebury East Beach and Leigh on Sea."

"We know there is one ramp near Chalkwell which cost £100,000 but it's not fit for purpose - the wheelchair users get to the bottom and they can't turn round, so they go onto the sand which is tidal so it is all soft, so it's hopeless."

"We are working the council to ensure this doesn't happen again."

"There is no access at all along the entire length of our region and we are determined to change this."

"We have spoken to Kingsdown School, the children there would love to come to the beach but can't because most of them are wheelchair bound."

Bob said the children's school trips were limited to Southend's parks. He said: "The school said they are really excited about this project, and about being able to bring the children to the beach in a safe environment with facilities."

"We are looking to provide ramps for wheelchair access to the beach and have been looking at the prices of specially adapted beach wheelchairs with huge wheels and tyres."

There are plans to equip the former tram shelter with a hoist to help disabled children and adults get changed into bathing suits.

Bob added: "We have been liaising with Dorset, Devon, Cornwall and even Scotland - these authorities have access for people to get onto the beach."

"I mean, even Scotland, where it rains so much has better access than Southend which is the driest part of the country!"

"They have the beach access and these fantastic adapted wheelchairs that we are looking at right now."

The caring on sea campaign has formed partnerships with local businesses, charities, community groups and Southend Council.

The project desperately needs funding, if you or your business can help with sponsorship, visit www.tramstopshelter.co.uk

● SOUTHEND Council has pledged to take in 10 Syrian refugees but it should take in more, said Labour.

Labour members said they believe the council should tell the Home Office it will support and accommodate around 100 refugees.

The UN estimate there are around 320,000 who are in urgent need of resettlement in and around Syria.

A Labour spokesman said: "The UK has a long and important tradition of offering sanctuary to those who need protection."

● A SOUTHEND Labour councillor is calling on his colleagues to respect Sunday as a day of rest and oppose plans to allow stores and shops to open longer.

Julian Ware-Lane has asked political colleagues to support his call.

The Government mooted plans to give local authorities power to introduce plans to extend Sunday trading more than the current six hours.

A Southend Council spokesman said: "The powers have not been devolved yet as the government have not concluded their review/consultation process."

● SOUTHEND has thousands of empty homes, latest figures show 2,277 homes were empty last year.

Southend Council said the figure was "a little deceiving" as it included homes that were empty for a day or two or a few weeks.

The authority said a long term empty home was defined legally as a property empty for two years or more and they considered the real figure to be 650. A council spokesman said: "The council has limited powers to take over every empty home, but does work to do what it can, and has brought over 500 back into use over the last nine years (about £115m worth of property)."

Win tickets to Frank Sinatra tribute show

THE world's number one Frank Sinatra tribute show is coming to town to celebrate the centenary of the greatest singer of the 20th century – and we have five pairs of tickets to give away to see it.

Frankly Sinatra, is at the Cliffs Pavilion, Southend, on Saturday, December 5, and features the swing, the swagger and the velvet vocals of Sinatra in concert, brought to life by Stephen Triffitt, who is acclaimed worldwide as the master of his craft.

Having starred as Frank for three seasons at Las Vegas' legendary Sands Casino, created the role of Ol' Blue Eyes in the original West End production of The Rat Pack Live from Las Vegas that toured the USA, Canada and Europe, and sold out the London Palladium twice and Royal Festival Hall with his own solo spectacular, Triffitt promises an unmissable evening.

With a resemblance described as "unsettlingly perfect" – with sculpted hair and twinkling blue eyes, all the way down to his shiny black patent leather shoes – Triffitt truly is Sinatra as he not only walks the walk, he talks the talk in a masterful performance.

With all of Sinatra's charm backed by the fantastic sound of big band swing he promises to thrill audiences with the likes of Fly Me To The Moon, Mack The Knife, My Way, That's Life, Under

Hundreds pay respects at

By Suzi Muston

southend@yellowad.co.uk

HUNDREDS of people turned out for the parade for Remembrance Day in Southend - as forces' members past and present stood to attention beneath the gunmetal skies until the the Mayor, Councillor Andrew Moring, arrived.

At 11am, the chimes of Big Ben were heard.

The service began with the playing of the Last Post and the exhortation delivered by Mr Bryan Emery, past chairman of Essex County branch of the Royal British Legion.

This ended with the words: "We will remember them" which was repeated by everyone, followed by the two-minutes silence.

The end of the silence was signalled by the Reveille followed by the Kohima epitaph given by Mr Philip Hopkins of the Burma Star Association.

The service continued with the hymn I Vow To Thee My Country.

While this was sung, the Mayor laid a wreath on the Cenotaph on behalf of Southend residents and the members and officers of Southend Council.

A cross of remembrance was laid on behalf of the War Widows, and other wreaths were laid by the Essex county branch of the Royal British Legion, the Burma Star Association, the county's police, fire and ambulance services, and representatives of the faith communities.

After some Bible verses spoken by the Mayor's chaplain Major Andrew Bale, the hymn Abide with Me was sung.

During this, the Veterans Associations laid wreaths.

Then the Bishop of Bradwell, the Rt Rev John Wrax said prayers, followed by a reading given by Rabbi Binyamin Bar, an address by Major Bale and then the hymn O God Our Help In Ages Past.

While this was sung, Southend Youth Mayor, Sarah-Jane Glew, representatives of schools, other organisations and individuals also laid wreaths.

The Mayor said: "It was extremely moving to see that so many wanted to share in this solemn event to remember and honour the men and women of our borough who gave their lives in the two world wars and other conflicts since.

"All of our armed services and civilian services, faiths groups and organisations - young and old - came together to show that those who made the ultimate sacrifice will never be forgotten."

An act of Remembrance also took place at Southend High Street on Wednesday - the 11th of the 11th.

The junior section is open to all youngsters aged 16 and under.

Entries should be no more than 250 words and emailed to letters@yellowad.co.uk.

THANK YOU: Synergy staff and volunteers say thanks to Southend United FC supporters

Addiction charity hails Blues' fans

SYNERGY Therapy and Addiction has received a helping hand from Southend United Football Club supporters.

It said a donation of almost £300 from fans will be used to employ a professional counsellor to oversee group therapy sessions for clients.

Synergy has helped people in the area for the last 30 years to overcome dependency with full integration back into their family and society.

It not only treats addiction, but the underlying issues which can range from trauma, abuse, disability, bereavement and mental health issues, in order to break the cycle of detox, relapse, detox.

It can also provide support for people who are experiencing difficulties arising from stress, depression, physical problems, relationship issues, anger management, anxiety and bereavement.

Michelle Gough, from Synergy, said: "We have big plans to enhance the services we provide to the local community."

"Thanks to X Factor finalist 2014, Lauren Platt, for advertising our fundraising event at Southend United FC to all her followers."

For more about the charity go to www.synergytherapycentre.co.uk.

Residents strike right chord with HARP to help homeless

SOUTHEND'S community has been praised after cash and food was given to a charity supporting the homeless.

Volunteers from HARP Southend in York Road said £859 was donated by people passing in Leigh Broadway.

Niqui Denkmayer, a volunteer fundraiser, said: "I was gobsmacked with how much we raised in Leigh and how much held collecting buckets on the day.

HARP also received hundreds of cans of food from Our Lady and St Helen's Church, in Westcliff, during Harvest festival last month.

"Thank you everyone for your kindness, without your help we would not be able to provide vital support."

THE YELLOW Advertiser has taken legal action against Essex Police after it covered up a police officer's misconduct.

The YA has filed a formal legal request under Freedom of Information legislation after Essex residents were banned from knowing why Detective Constable Pete Coley was sacked.

DC Coley, badge number 3595, was dismissed on Tuesday, November 2, following a misconduct hearing chaired by Chief Constable Stephen Kavanagh. He was also placed on the 'disapproved register', banning him from working as a police officer again. Although Essex Police began holding misconduct hearings in public earlier this year, DC Coley's hearing was held in secret and police have refused to tell the public what he did. A spokesman would only say he had committed 'gross misconduct' relating to 'discreditable conduct' and 'orders and instructions'.

He added: "Mr Kavanagh decided that in this case the hearing was held in private, owing to the sensitive nature of the alleged conduct."

In a witness appeal posted on Essex Police's website in 2014 DC Coley was listed as having the more senior rank of Detective Sergeant. In a page on networking website LinkedIn, DC Coley said he joined Essex Police in March 2005 and described himself as a 'proven investigator of serious and complex crime'.

He wrote: "I am highly motivated and good at leading investigations." He said he was 'tenacious', 'good at managing a complicated workload' and could 'make hard decisions based on [his] investigative knowledge'.

He added: "I have investigated a large number of enquiries, including homicide and complex corporate fraud."

The LinkedIn page said DC Coley had been in the RAF between October 2000 and March 2005, based at RAF Brampton.

He wrote that he was 'responsible for the prevention and detection of crime within the RAF base'.

The page said he had 'completed counter-terrorism investigations' and been involved in 'armed patrols' and 'protection of top secret documents'.

DC Coley also wrote that he had studied law at Colchester Sixth Form College from 1998 – 2000. Essex Police has 20 working days to answer the YA's questions before it is in breach of the law, as set out by the rules of access.

American founding fathers set sail from Essex waters in 1606

AMERICAN presidents are traditionally keen to prove their Irish roots and, while hailing from the Emerald Isle is indeed an honour, the English county of Essex REALLY is where the Leaders of the Free World should be queuing up to claim heritage.

History may well record the tale of the Pilgrim Fathers setting out from Plymouth for the New World - but in actuality, the ship they sailed on, the Mayflower, originally came from Harwich, on the north Essex coast.

Not only that, she was built there and captained by local man, Christopher Jones.

Volunteers at the Harwich Mayflower Project - a painstaking endeavour to build an authentic facsimile of the original Mayflower ship and sail it across the Atlantic to America in 2020 - can become rather excitable at the merest mention of Plymouth, which they regard as having hijacked the ship and claimed it as the Devon town's own! Check out details of what they are up to and arrange a fascinating tour here - www.harwichmayflower.com

When the first ships, Godspeed, Discovery and Susan Constant, set sail for America in 1606, they did so under the command of Harwich-born Christopher Newport and carried 144 men and boys, many from Essex.

They arrived in Chesapeake Bay on 26 April 1607 and established the first permanent English settlement, Jamestown, named in honour of King James I.

Thirteen years later, after stopping for supplies in Plymouth, the Mayflower began her momentous voyage.

BASE: The port at Harwich

Carrying 102 passengers, again many from Essex and captained by another Harwich man, Christopher Jones (whose house can still be seen in Harwich), the ship's safe arrival in Cape Cod 66 days later was to be one of the defining moments of American history.

Christopher Martin, whose home still stands in Billericay High Street, was aboard the Mayflower in 1620, acting as the ship's treasurer or 'privisioner'.

Martin had also served as churchwarden at Great Burstead's St Mary Magdalene's Church but after settling in Massachusetts, established Billericay in 1655. Understandably, it is now twinned with its Essex inspiration, Billericay.

Spink's had more faces than Bowie

IT was only a couple of weeks ago when Castle Point UKIP Councillor Alan Bayley stood up in the council chamber and, attempting to seize some moral high ground, called into question the democratic validity of councillors swapping and changing political parties without resigning from the council first and triggering an election.

I wonder if Cllr Bayley, upon reflection, now sees the delicious irony of his moralising following the announcement that the ex-Castle Point MP, Bob Spink, is to stand as UKIP candidate in the forthcoming election for Essex Police and Crime Commissioner?

Let us take a moment to remind ourselves of Mr Spink's political history during which time he has possibly gone through more "ch-ch-changes" of political identity than David Bowie has stage personas.

Firstly, he became a Conservative and was elected as MP for Castle Point in 1992 to 1997 and again in 2001. In 2008 he left the Conservative Party and joined UKIP but did not resign as an MP or trigger a by-election as he should have done according to Cllr Bayley's political code of conduct. Mr Spink's next transformation saw him leave UKIP and become an Independent MP and stood in the 2010 election under the banner "Save Our Greenbelt". As we know, he lost his seat in the 2010 election to our Conservative candidate, Rebecca Harris.

Having evidently, and for whatever reason, discarded his green credentials (we understand Mr Spink is now sometimes referred to as "Bob The Builder" by some residents of Castle Point) Mr Spink is once again back in the UKIP fold.

The police and crime commissioner elections are all of six months away so still plenty of time for another change or two from this political chameleon!

Hospice thanks its volunteers

I AM writing on behalf of Little Havens Hospice to thank three of our amazing Community Champion volunteers.

Darren Cooper, Sarah De Cristofano and Derek Briggs organised the brilliant Little Havens Community Ball on Saturday, October 17.

More than 100 people attended the event at Pontlands Park near Chelmsford.

It was such a fun evening which was enjoyed by all.

We now know the event raised £5,805 for the hospice which will help us to provide care for life-limited babies, children and teenagers.

None of that would have been possible without these three dedicated Community Champions and everybody else who supported the event including compere Gary Ambrose and all those who donated auction and raffle prizes.

We'd like to say a massive "thank you" to them all and of course everybody who came along to the event and gave so generously.

I REFER to your article about David Amess MP (Yellow Advertiser, Oct 30).

You referred to him as Mr. He is in fact Sir. He received the tap on the shoulder this year for...well, who knows?

So there you have it. There's hope for all of us.

Ahoy there, shipmates!

THIS is a big "thank you" to this newspaper, who, along with other local newspapers across the UK, printed a letter of mine, explaining that the best way for those who have served in the Royal Navy to find their old shipmates, was to get in touch with their old Ship's Association and attend one of the reunions, this would almost certainly lead to reliving the camaraderie they once knew.

Well, thanks to you, the response has been terrific, at the moment I have more than 60 Royal Navy Ship's Association reunions listed, complete with the first point of contact. This alone could be an old shipmate!

So, if any ex-Royal Navy reader missed the first letter, drop me an email to mike.crowe1@btinternet.com or royalnavyreunions@gmail.com with brief details of your service and who you are looking for and from which ship, and I will send the latest list through, along with the latest monthly news sheet full of messages.

This goes to more than 400 associations and Royal Naval Association Branches. All done by email so no printing, stationery, or postage and subs, etcetera.

And if you served on one of the Twelve Blackwood Class Frigates, thanks again to the letters being printed and the response, a new association has started for you. Get your name on the list. (Again no subs). The Type 14 Blackwood Class Association has been launched and the first reunion organised.

Thank you local newspapers! If you want attention and action, write to Letters to the Editor.

I wonder if you know just how much you are read.

Time for a rethink about life?

I WRITE to express my concerns with the Conservative politicians, both locally and those in Westminster.

YOU NEED A RETHINK!

Firstly, I take issue with plans to build on our green fields, wildlife sites, tree covered land and our playing fields.

I read that southeast Essex and east London are the most heavily polluted places in the land with exhaust fumes causing breathing problems and early deaths. It has been reported that nothing has been done to combat this problem – for instance, ending our love affair with the car and walking, cycling, using more frequent public transport at an affordable cost, say a £1 fare anywhere per day.

Why don't we all work on changing the working day to, say, three hours a day and have more recreation and family time, creating a more green and pleasant land – a paradise, not a wasteland?

Why do we need money – slavery and fearmongering in our world today anyway?

It's a disgusting carry-on, Government. You are upsetting my community. You kill innocent animals and are trying to destroy my garden on what's left of green belt land.

Build more new garden cities, resolve the issues and stop this needless fearmongering.

Just fancy that!

Selling SpongeBob and a few fancy dress items for hen parties led a family firm to international success

EXCLUSIVE

By Suzi Muston

southend@yellowad.co.uk

THE SALE of a small £1 soft toy 10 years ago was the start of something big for a Southend family.

George Nesnas, 23, sold a SpongeBob Square Pants toy on eBay for £32 and was so excited, dad Sammy decided to buy a box of the yellow squishy toys to sell to the world wide market.

Sammy said: "We sold one box with ease, so then sold quite a few more, we then began selling other bits and pieces from home such as toys.

"Then we bought in a few fancy dress items for hen parties and they went really well, and we suddenly got so busy, we had to get premises.

"We got our first fancy dress shop in London Road in 2008."

It hasn't all been plain sailing, after running their London Road shop, someone set fire to a wheelie bin outside.

Sammy added: "The roof caught fire. The roof fell in and we had to shut down.

"However, the next week, we moved into a premises in Hamlet Court Road, Southend, which was double the size.

"Our suppliers carried on giving us stock as because we were so busy."

The firm, I Love Fancy Dress, now provides 26 people with jobs in Southend and has a massive annual turnover of £4 million, making it one of the biggest - and best - UK fancy dress suppliers.

Sammy said around ten per cent of his sales come from Germany and France so he has employed a German person and a French person.

The firm's international relationships have spurred Sammy's son on to learn Mandarin. Samy said: "My son George has taught himself Mandarin because we take regular trips out there to meet with the factory owners in China.

"Although most of the business people do speak English it has been extremely helpful.

"All of our outfits carry the international safety marks and have passed the tough international safety standards which is very important with children."

Sammy said everyone who worked at the company was respected and enjoyed being there. He said: "We cherish everyone who works here and take on board their ideas.

"Someone will come in with a say new design idea for an outfit for Halloween or Australia day which is in January.

"It's an exciting process, one of the our dress makers will make up the costume, we then send it to China, their factory will make up another version and send it back to us.

"We may alter it a little and send it back to China again and they will send us one back and at that stage we give them the go ahead and the full scale manufacturing process will begin.

"It's a fantastic fun environment and everyone loves working here, people want to do their very best when they are happy enjoy their work. It really is a fun environment to work in here."

'UFO crater'... a pond

IS it in impact crater from a crashed UFO? A new swimming pool? Something more sinister?

The snap was taken sent to Milton ward Labour councillor Julian Ware-Lane by a resident.

He said: "I suspect it is something to do with drainage issues, but this thing has appeared recently in Blenheim Park."

"It doesn't seem either like it is supposed to be there, or particularly safe." A spokesman for Southend Council confirmed it was a result of drainage works.

MYSTERY APPEARANCE: The crater in Blenheim Park

"The feature is known as a 'scrape', providing attenuation for water draining from the field.

"In wet weather obviously it will have some water, in the summer it is likely that it will dry out.

"Marginal plants (planting which is used in wet areas/ponds) will be planted in due course."

past, many people are surprised by the huge breadth of services that the council provides – from looking after vulnerable people to maintaining highways, running library services, supporting business – and the costs involved.

He warned: "But one thing is clear, councils will receive less funding each year but still be expected to maintain or improve core services.

"We constantly have to find new and innovative ways of delivering more for less in order to adequately meet the needs of local people.

"These events are my way of engaging with large numbers of people from the community, many with specific needs and interests, and I hope as many as possible will come along to share their views."

If your group or organisation wants to meet Cllr Woodley, email kel-clarke@southend.gov.uk.

Transform all your windows with Altex (UK)

ALTEX (UK) has been a supplier to the trade since 1987, with both proprietors having many years' experience in the window industry prior to forming their own firm.

Altex (UK)'s head office, principal factory and show centre are at 58 Tailors Court, Southend, and a further factory unit at 50 Tailors Court specialises in architectural aluminium fabrications.

The current premises have the capacity to make more than 250 windows per week and are an optimum size for the business to remain totally under family control.

The show centre opened during 2007 to coincide with the firm's 20th anniversary celebrations, and all prospective clients are welcome to visit the premises without an appointment.

Altex is a family business and proprietors Andrew and Paul Bawden are able to offer you a service surpassing the expertise and assurance you would expect from a national window company at a more affordable price.

Having traded for nearly 27 years, Altex has built a wealth of experience in a variety of window and door systems, and although it has always undertaken window and door repairs, it has never advertised the fact.

Last year Andrew decided to put a couple of vans on the road specifically to meet the need for the growing window and door repair market.

Even if your windows are not experiencing any problems, you can transform the look of your property by changing clear glass units to leaded or Georgian designs, or even just upgrade the warmth and comfort of your home by fitting new energy-saving glass sealed units to your existing windows.

So, for repairs, refurbishments or even new windows and doors, telephone Altex on 0800 0185763, or visit the company website at www.altex-uk.com.

COCKTAILS AND FLAPPERS:
The cast of The Great Gatsby

TOAST THE JAZZ AGE

By LIZ WADE

TWO classic stories are being brought to life at Towngate Theatre. F Scott Fitzgerald's masterpiece, The Great Gatsby, is on stage at the Basildon theatre from Thursday to Saturday, November 12 to 14, while an adaption of Frank Capra's film, It's A Wonderful Life, follows on Monday and Tuesday, November 16 and 17.

The sizzling new stage production of The Great Gatsby from Blackeyed Theatre, commissioned to mark the 90th anniversary of the novella's publication, is on a 98-date UK tour. Adapted by Stephen Sharkey, the audience is immersed in the decadence of America's jazz age as it recreates the sights, sounds and feel of the Roaring Twenties seen through the eyes of Yale graduate and First World War veteran, Nick Carraway, who takes a job in New York as a bond salesman and rents a small house on Long Island – next door to the lavish mansion of Jay Gatsby.

The story explores idealism, resistance to change, social upheaval and excess in a society obsessed with wealth and status.

Remaining faithful to the spirit and language of the original, this adaption brings the tale to life by creating a fresh, character-driven piece of theatre with music alongside the timeless language of the book.

Sharkey said: "Like a cocktail-fuelled ride in a fast car, this adaption moves through F Scott Fitzgerald's great story of a doomed love and a decadent decade, heading toward its final, inevitable crash."

Director Eliot Giuralarocca added: "Stephen Sharkey has shaped and distilled Fitzgerald's novel into a muscular and narrative-driven portrait of the Jazz Age, full of cool, sexy, stiletto-sharp dialogue as cool as ice in a cocktail. Throw into the mix our wonderful design team along with an ensemble of seven fabulously talented actors, who all sing, dance and play instruments, and I hope we have all the ingredients needed to give the audience a wonderful party and bring Fitzgerald's Great American masterpiece roaring into life."

Joining this truly fresh and inspiring theatrical experience are Adam Jowett from Emmerdale and Last Tango in Halifax, in the role of Nick Carraway, and Tristan Pate from the UK tour and West End production of Dreamboats and Petticoats, in the role of Tom Buchanan.

They are joined by Stacey Ghent, whose previous productions include Sondheim: Women, Father Christmas and The Opinion

Apple Corps

Michael Fassbender as Steve Jobs

STEVE JOBS (15, 122 mins)

DANNY Boyle's bravura portrait of the revered Apple Inc co-founder is neither a traditional biopic nor a gushing hagiography.

Steve Jobs is an audacious character study in three acts that paints its subject as an egomaniac, a visionary and a neglectful father with the same meticulous brushstrokes.

Scriptwriter Aaron Sorkin, who collected an Academy Award for The Social Network, deserves to add another golden statuette to the mantelpiece for his exemplary work here.

He explores violently clashing facets of Jobs' personality through the prism of three key product launches in 1984, 1988 and 1998 respectively.

Each chapter unfolds at a breathless pace, established by Sorkin's rapid-fire dialogue, and cinematographer Alwin Küchler cleverly conjures the mood by shooting on different film stocks: 16mm, 35mm and digital.

Michael Fassbender and Kate Winslet are mesmerising as the titular maven and his right-hand woman, who take markedly different approaches to people management.

In the first section, Steve (Fassbender) prepares to launch the first Macintosh flanked by marketing executive Joanna Hoffman (Winslet), one of the few people who tolerates his outbursts.

When the computer's voice function glitches, Jobs verbally abuses development team leader Andy Hertzfeld (Michael Stuhlbarg).

"We blow this and IBM will own the next 50 years like a Batman villain," seethes Jobs.

Apple CEO John Sculley (Jeff Daniels) watches from the wings, bearing witness to the birth of a monster.

In the second chapter, set four years later, Jobs continues to clash with his first girlfriend Chrisann Brennan (Katherine Waterston), who claims that he is the father of her daughter.

"Things don't become so because you say so," she snaps, as Jobs prepares to launch The Cube, which he knows will be "the biggest single failure in the history of personal computing".

Bitter defeat turns into sweet personal triumph in the final act as Steve returns to the Apple fold, ousts Sculley from his perch and prepares to dazzle the world with the iMac.

Rivalries simmer and co-founder Steve Wozniak (Seth Rogen) reminds Jobs that being in charge doesn't come at the expense of good manners.

"It's not binary – you can be decent and gifted at the same time," laments Wozniak.

Steve Jobs is another artistic triumph for Boyle, who stormed the 2008 Academy Awards with Slumdog Millionaire.

His camera glides along corridors as the protagonist barks orders, demanding nothing less than perfection.

Excellence behind the camera would mean nothing without pyrotechnics on screen and Fassbender lights the fuse on his own Oscar chances with a scintillating portrayal of Jobs, who likens himself to a conductor.

"Musicians play their instruments. I play the orchestra," he coolly tells his inner circle.

Glimpsed through Boyle's unflinching and sometimes unflattering lens, Jobs played his orchestra until their fingers bled while he barely broke sweat.

TRIBUTE: It's A Wonderful Life is coming to the Towngate Theatre

Fresh take on a classic movie

Makers, in the role of Myrtle Wilson, as well as Tom Neill, Celeste De Veazey, Celia Cruzys-Finnigan and Max Roll as Jay Gatsby.

It's A Wonderful Life, the story of idealist George Bailey, whose dreams look set to be dashed by small-town scandal and big business, is brought to life in a new production that premiered to excellent reviews in London last year.

Adapted by playwright Tony Palermo it follows Bailey who, contemplating life while alone on a bridge, decides that everyone would be better off without him. It falls to hapless guardian angel, Clarence, to try and save him.

James Seabright and Climar Productions will present the Bridge House Production retold as a radio play, complete with sound effects created live on stage.

This tribute to the golden era of the wireless will be a fresh take on a heart-warming movie classic.

Oliver Stoney, who trained at Bristol Old Vic Theatre School and won the 2005 Spotlight Award, plays Bailey, while Augustina Seymour, who trained at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama, plays Mary Bailey.

Stoney's credits include South Pacific, The Sunshine Boys, Rain Man, Amadeus, Romeo and Juliet and Wuthering Heights as well as TV's Call The Midwife. Seymour has appeared in Playing For Time, Strangers On A Train, The Nutcracker, Hitchcock Blonde, Much Ado About Nothing, King Lear and A Christmas Carol. She has also appeared in short films including Long Walk Home, Girl in a Yellow Dress, Postcards From London, and Neighbours.

Liz at Large

YA features reporter Liz Wade goes out and about

Day out with nature at old airfield

DISCOVER more about a former airfield at a visitor centre now open in the country park where it used to be.

The Ingrebourne Valley Visitor Centre in Hornchurch Country Park was opened by Autumnwatch's Iolo Williams last month.

While you are more likely to see redshank and lapwing flying over the country park today, years ago it would have been Spitfires as it was once the most renowned Spitfire station during the Second World War.

But it was even before this that Sutton's Farm airfield sprung to life.

Biplanes of the Royal Flying Corps took off from the airfield during the First World War to defend the capital, with Lieutenant Leefe-Robinson receiving the Victoria Cross for bringing down the first Zeppelin airship terrorising London.

More than 300 men and 24 women were based at Suttons Farm by the end of the First World War and it was in 1922 that the RAF expanded and the airfield was chosen as an ideal location.

During the Second World War three Spitfire squadrons were based there, making it the most renowned station in Fighter Command and during the Battle of Britain it was bombed at least 10 times.

Between 1941 and 1944 pilots from RAF Hornchurch shot down 268 German aircraft, and probably 96 more.

By the end of the war a total of 126 RAF Hornchurch pilots had been killed and many more injured or captured.

When RAF Hornchurch closed in 1962 it was sold for gravel extraction and Havering Borough Council carried out a landscaping project in 1980 to create what is now Hornchurch Country Park.

Over the years the 97-hectare park, which still has various artefacts and relics of the site's RAF history such as pillboxes, Tett turrets and a Spitfire dispersal point, has grown into a place of importance to people and wildlife.

There is a children's play area with a model Spitfire, an outdoor gym and trim-trail.

PIVOTAL ROLE: Ingrebourne Valley Visitor Centre

Its new £1.4million visitor centre, built by Essex Wildlife Trust with Havering Council, overlooks the marshland and reed beds of the River Ingrebourne, and has a shop, café, toilets, an education and community room, as well as displays.

It also runs events focused on the park's fascinating wildlife and heritage, as well as the surrounding Ingrebourne Valley landscape, which is made up of 261 hectares of interconnecting habitats, including river, open water, marsh, grassland, ancient and secondary woodland, scrub and hedgerows and London's largest remaining continuous freshwater reed bed, which is a Site of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI) and a local nature reserve.

The visitor centre, close to Hornchurch Country Park's play area and car park, can be found off Squadrons Approach, and is a gateway to the Ingrebourne Valley with its excellent network of footpaths, cycle-paths and bridle-paths, providing panoramic views over the valley and its wildlife.

Future events at the centre include a bike-marking and safer travel advice session with the Metropolitan Police Safer Transport Team, from 10am to 2pm on Saturday, November 28, and a Christmas craft afternoon from 1-3pm on Saturday, December 12, which costs a £5 donation per child and needs to be pre-booked.

■ For more about the park and the centre, which is open daily, visit www.havering.gov.uk or www.essexwt.org.uk.

Traditional with a hint of more

Advertisement feature

A TRADITIONAL pub and restaurant has it all, from the very best in English cuisine with a hint of Mediterranean and Asian influences to an excellent selection of ales, lagers and wine.

The Bell & Chimes Restaurant, on Rettendon Common, has a warm, relaxed atmosphere making it the ideal venue for everyone from those looking for fine dining to others searching for a quality pub meal.

Throughout the year you can enjoy a drink and a bite to eat in The Bell's comfortable bar – open all day, every day – or a delicious meal in its 50-seater Chimes Restaurant, which is open every evening and for Sunday lunch.

Its mid-week menu, offering a choice of two courses for £10.95 or three courses for just £11.95, is packed with a wide range of choices, from whitebait and Italian pasta to smoked mackerel and soup of the day to start, followed by a fantastic range of main dishes such as home made pie of the day, home cooked ham with eggs, pan fried liver and bacon, baked seafood and home made lasagne.

If you have room for more, then there is a range of delicious sweets to enjoy from the trolley. An a la carte menu is served in the restaurant on Saturday evenings which also has extensive choice including venison pate, Scottish smoked salmon, garlic mushrooms, and rosemary and garlic briar for starters, and succulent roast pork tenderloin, lamb shank, chicken Portobello – chicken breast smothered with Madeira and mushroom sauce – as well as grill and fish dishes for mains.

All of this is complemented by a wide range of side orders and desserts including sweets from the trolley. More choice is available on Sunday as staff serve a snack menu in the bar area and a comprehensive blackboard which always includes a choice of four roasts, the famous home made pie of the day and fresh fish, and other dishes. Sunday lunch menu costs £8.95 for a main meal, £10.75 for two courses and £12.25 for three courses.

There is also a comprehensive bar menu offering a range of favourites from prawn cocktail, potato wedges and rack of ribs, to burger meals, scampi and ploughman's.

The Chimes Restaurant can also be hired for private functions, whether you want to enjoy a sit-down meal for up to 50 people, or a buffet-style celebration for up to 100.

During the summer you can enjoy al fresco dining at the front of the premises, and every Thursday evening from 9pm there is a quiz night in the bar area.

With so much to offer, including free wi-fi, it is clear why so many people make The Bell & Chimes their first choice, whether they want a quick lunch, a bite to eat after work, the perfect location for a social gathering or celebration, or the venue for a business lunch.

It is now taking bookings for Christmas for the special three-course party menu which will be available from December 1 to 23, except Sundays, and costs just £15.95 per person, and £7.95 for children under 10.

Anyone interested in the Christmas party menu, or making a reservation for Christmas Day or Boxing Day, is urged to book early to avoid disappointment.

To make a reservation call The Bell & Chimes Restaurant on 01245 400616 or visit www.bellandchimesrettendon.co.uk.

Ask the Agent

Alan Kirkman

Q. Is this a good time to buy?

A. This is one of those questions which can be as straightforward or as complex as you choose to make it – more so since I have no idea whether you are a first-time or otherwise “unencumbered” buyer, or someone who, like most of us, also has a property to sell.

Either way, of course, we're all subject to the market – and at the moment, the market is rather interesting. Since before the end of last year, agents all over the country have been reporting a shortage of instructions. This imbalance between supply and demand duly created a seller's market, in which those relatively few properties that did come up for sale tended to be snapped up pretty quickly, and for good prices.

Now normally, this sort of situation would soon bring out hoards of additional vendors, all hoping to cash in on the bonanza – and as a result, things would gradually stabilise again – and maybe even swing in favour of the buyer. That's how the property market self-adjusts. But this time, it hasn't happened. First,

Alan Kirkman is a Director of both Tudor Estates in Southend and Essex TEAM part of a network of independently owned estate agents who share their instructions for the benefit of giving their client properties maximum market exposure. Alan has been an estate agent for over 32 years.

the traditional January surge in new instructions didn't really happen. Nor did the expected post-Election boom. Finally, the Autumn pickup didn't materialise either. And now, alongside this continuing shortage of new instructions, agents have also been reporting a falling off in buyer activity!

So, to cut a long story slightly shorter, the net result of all this is an effectively balanced market, in which the continuing shortage of instructions has begun to be offset by a lack of buyers. Precisely why this should be is a subject of some debate. But whatever the reason, the net result is that it is difficult to discern any significant advantages – or disadvantages, come to that – to buying at the present time. Of course, as always, if you are the sort of buyer who is able to move quickly on a purchase, it's possible that you might be lucky enough to pick up a bit of a bargain. But, inevitably, that advantage becomes more marginal if you have to sell an existing property first.

Ultimately, however, all this agonising over tactical advantage really only underlines the fact that we should always buy or sell when its suits us – rather than trying to second-guess the market.

Rebooted Focus can hold its own

By John Murdoch

FOCUS has been the best-selling family hatch in the UK for years because it is very good. The current generation arrived on the scene last November and there is something for everyone in the new line-up with a range of models and engines to choose from.

Buyers can select from basic models up to the stunning, high performance ST model and from a variety of turbo petrol and diesel engines.

The latest third-generation Focus sets the standard in the family hatchback market, providing a smart blend of quality, comfort and handling.

The latest improvements provided the Focus with more upmarket-looking chrome grille, narrower headlights and an improved interior. A new range of engines and techno treats were also introduced to help keep it ahead of its rivals.

The hatch offers bags of space but if you need more you can opt for the fine estate model which drives and handles as well as its sibling.

Now available in five main specifications – entry-level Studio, Style, the mid-range Zetec and top-of-the-range Titanium and Titanium X – buyers who are after more performance can also choose between the sporty Zetec S or the excellent Focus ST.

The engine line-up features economical diesel and smooth petrol engines and this car was the 1.0-litre T Style five-door with Stop/Start, priced at £17,945. The Style is only one grade above the entry level model but it is not short of standard equipment.

You get a DAB radio with a CD player, steering wheel audio controls, Ford SYNC (including Bluetooth and Voice Control) with emergency assistance, air conditioning, electric front windows, a trip/fuel computer, cruise control with active speed limiter, hill start assist, an Eco Mode driver information system, remote locking, electric door mirrors and a Thatcham alarm.

Safety equipment includes numerous airbags, an electronic stability programme, emergency brake assist, Ford's intelligent protection system, vectoring control and a tyre pressure monitoring system.

The frugal 1.0-litre EcoBoost engine may not suit all tastes but it is very capable. It emits 99g/km of CO2 and since the current car is lighter than the old model it does not struggle.

It is smooth and has a top speed of 115mph and takes 11.9 seconds to reach 62mph.

The five-speed gearbox has a slick action and you need to use it well to make good progress. The Focus provides an entertaining drive thanks to sharp steering and a responsive chassis. It has the edge on most of its rivals when it comes to handling and the suspension has been improved to make things even better.

Inside the latest Focus is a big improvement over the old model. An all-new dash brings things up to date and the quality of the materials used is better than before with soft-touch plastics replacing scratchy surfaces.

The blue lighting makes the instruments look classy and the displays are all much easier to read.

Ford claims the car is capable of 65.7mpg on the combined cycle but I couldn't match that. I still averaged more than 50mpg – not bad for a car of this size.

The Focus may be up against some tough opposition but the update means that it can still hold its own in a very competitive sector.

TOUGH TOFFEES HOLD HAMMERS

West Ham United

West Ham United 1 Everton 1

Brian Jeeves reporting from Upton Park

MANUEL Lanzini's brilliant first half goal lit up a competitive but scruffy Barclays Premier League encounter as West Ham and Everton shared the spoils.

The Hammers were keen for a return to winning ways after a disappointing setback at Watford last week.

Nevertheless, Everton, fresh from a 6-2 thrashing of Sunderland, have been a bogey side to the east Londoners. West Ham had won just one of the previous 17 league meetings with the Toftees.

West Ham went close to opening the scoring when Victor Moses fired Dimitri Payet's centre past Everton keeper Tim Howard into the side netting. The visitors responded with Romelu Lukaku a whisker away from adding to his haul of goals against the Hammers after Adrian seemingly misjudged the flight of Arouna Kone's cross.

But it was the Hammers who made the sharper start. Howard was forced into an unorthodox save to keep out Carl Jenkinson, while Aaron Cresswell's follow-up attempt was the wrong side of an upright.

Everton countered. Adrian was called upon to divert Gerard Deulofeu's cross-shot with his feet.

But West Ham already looked the more likely to score, and when tricky Argentine Lanzini found some space 20 yards from goal, he beat Howard with an exquisite right-footed finish high into the net.

West Ham were seemingly controlling the contest, however just before the break the Toftees restored parity, and it was a familiar foe who did the damage. Lukaku burst clear before rounding Adrian to score his seventh goal in as many games against the Hammers after England hopeful Ross Barkley picked him out with a terrific defence-splitting pass.

The goal dented the home side as it was Everton who returned for the second period with a spring in their step. Barkley's dead ball effort did very little to trouble Adrian, while the home side's concerns grew further when playmaker Payet limped off with what appeared to be an ankle injury, to be replaced by the returning Enner Valencia.

An uneasy atmosphere took hold of the Upton Park faithful as West Ham struggled to regain any momentum.

Howard had to scramble from his goal to thwart both Noble and Valencia, while Lanzini's toil almost paid dividends, as the American keeper finger-tipped his stinging low drive behind. Valencia had not long been on the field when an innocuous challenge from Seamus Coleman resulted in the Ecuadorian being stretchered off. Mauro Zarate was the replacement.

Their misfortune seemed to galvanise the Hammers who probed with a little more purpose. Andy Carroll nodded Moses's flag-kick inches over, while Jenkinson warmed the palms of Howard after breaking from deep.

But Everton almost snatched it late on when Lukaku stabbed Brendan Galloway's cross agonisingly wide.

Speaking after the game, Hammers boss Slaven Bilic said: "It was a good game. I'm really happy with the way we played, especially after the way we played at Watford and especially in front of our own fans against a big club and a good team."

"On one hand we are never happy when we don't win, especially at home. We are always looking to win a game, but I can't be unhappy with the way we played."

"They deserved something from the game, definitely."

On the injuries to Payet and Valencia, Bilic said: "I don't know yet. I've been in football long enough to know not to listen to first opinions. We have to wait for the scans for both of them."

"I think the first one [Payet] was a bad challenge. The second one was an 'English challenge' – ball and everything."

"But as I say, I'm hoping and I'm optimistic. I hope they are going to be OK for the Spurs game."

Everton chief Roberto Martinez stated: "I think West Ham started better than us in the first half."

"I thought the first 20 minutes we were coming to terms. We put a lot of emphasis into wanting to be solid."

"Our performance against Sunderland was exciting to watch on the ball. We had the right mindset to be tested today defensively."

Martinez was delighted with the response from his side after they fell behind, saying: "For the first 15-20 minutes we were coming to terms, that's when we conceded the goal, which is disappointing from our point of view. It was a great finish from Lanzini, but he's got a lot of space, too much space, on the edge of the box."

"From that point on I thought we came really strong. Looking at our second half performance, we kept West Ham really quiet, we nullified them. The disappointment is that we couldn't find that little bit of magic that we had with Gerard Deulofeu for the goal."

West Ham United look forward to a mouthwatering London derby with Tottenham Hotspur at White Hart Lane on Sunday, November 22, kick-off 4pm, but without midfielder Payet who has now been ruled out for three months with an ankle injury.

Gt Wakering frustrated by AFC

Ladies Football

Great Wakering Ladies 0
AFC Sudbury Ladies 1

By Brian Jeeves

GREAT Wakering Ladies slipped to a disappointing defeat in a scrappy encounter at Burroughs Park.

Great Wakering had hoped to build on their first Eastern Region Women's League Premier Division victory when Haringey Borough were the visitors seven days ago.

However, Emma Squirrel grabbed the only goal just after the hour mark to take the points back to Suffolk.

Great Wakering's best chance fell to Rhianne Cunningham just after the break, but the striker was off-target when one-on-one with the AFC Sudbury goalkeeper.

Speaking after the game, Great Wakering manager Paul Smith said: "I was disappointed with this defeat as we just didn't create enough chances. We worked hard but our final ball was just not good enough."

"These are games that we should be taking points from, and I was hopeful that following our good performance last week against Haringey, that we would."

BEST CHANCE: Rhianne Cunningham

Orient hit Staines for six

Football

Leyton Orient 6 Staines Town 1
The Emirates FA Cup First Round

By Rowland Lyons

LEYTON Orient put their stuttering League Two promotion push on the back burner and hit their lowly Isthmian League visitors for six, last Saturday.

Ollie Palmer and talisman Dean Cox both grabbed first-half braces, before John Marquis and Sean Clohessy completed the rout. Former Orient skipper Darren Purse hit the Swans' consolation.

Trying to forget the Accrington reverse from the previous weekend, the O's wasted no time when Palmer converted Fraser Shaw's third minute cross, before the recalled left-back fed Cox to net with an instinctive finish barely five minutes later.

Orient continued to make their superiority count and were 3-0 up inside 13 minutes when Palmer easily scored again from close range.

Purse, who captained Orient as a 17-year old more than 20 years ago, reduced the deficit with a smart finish on 23 minutes. But Orient showed no mercy less than 10 minutes later when Cox hit home a trademark stunning 30-yard free-kick.

Orient could be forgiven for taking their foot off the gas after the break but they warmed up for Sunday's live TV showdown at Hartlepool (kick-off 12.15pm), with Marquis and Clohessy smartly netting their first goals in Orient colours.

Taaffe double lifts Concord

By Brian Jeeves

LEWIS Taaffe grabbed a brace as National League South outfit Concord Rangers enjoyed an eye-catching away-day at Weston-super-Mare.

James White was also on the score-sheet as the Beach Boys won 3-0 in the West Country, a result that lifts them to 15th in the table.

But Essex rivals Chelmsford City slipped to defeat against Truro City at the Melbourne Stadium. Hugo Skepeltorn fired the Clarets into an early lead, but the visitors hit back before the break through Jamie Reid and Ryan Brett to snatch the points.

In the Ryman Premier League Grays Athletic saw off Burgess Hill Town by two goals to nil. Bradley Fortnam-Tomlinson and Dumela Dumaka with the goals. Sam Lechmere and Ryan O'Rawe struck in the second half as Brentwood Town won by the same score at VCD Athletic.

East Thurrock United beat Hampton & Richmond Borough by the odd goal in three at Rookery Hill. Ryan Scott and Harry Honesty with the Rocks goals.

Meanwhile, Billericay Town shared the spoils at Enfield Town, the match eventually ending in an entertaining 2-2 draw.

But it was a bad day on the road for Canvey Island. The Gulls have been in decent form of late, but they were no match for hosts Bognor Regis Town who ran out 5-0 winners.

Thurrock were the region's big winners in Ryman League Division One North. David Cowley and Ross Wall both hit a brace while Michael Toner was also on target as visitors Wroxham were thrashed 5-1 at Ship Lane.

Chinedu McKenzie replied for Romford, while Aveley were victorious on the road, winning 2-1 at Waltham Abbey.

But it wasn't such a good afternoon for several of our other local clubs.

Jay Nash was Great Wakering Rovers' goalscorer in a 2-1 setback to Maldon & Tiptree at Burroughs Park. Darren McQueen bagged both for the winners.

Kemari Salmon was Barkingside's marksman in a 4-1 defeat at Bury Town, while Heybridge Swifts went down 3-1 at home to Soham Town Rangers.

There were plenty of goals in the Essex Senior League with Barking leading the way with a 5-1 thumping of Enfield 1893.

Basildon United and Wadham Lodge played out an epic seven-goal thriller, but the hosts ran out 4-3 winners.

Ilford produced an impressive performance to see off league leaders Sawbridgeworth 3-0 at the Cricklefield Stadium, and their away wins for Hullbridge, 3-1 at Sporting Bengal United, and Southend Manor, 2-1 at Burnham Ramblers.

In selected action in the ProKit UK Essex Olympian League, Springfield won their Premier Division clash with Rayleigh Town 2-0, meanwhile, in Division One Leigh Ramblers and Runwell Hospital played out a 2-2 draw.

Flat Roofing

Guaranteed for Life

High-Tech Roofing have installed and guaranteed over 8,000 domestic projects – every roof we install comes complete with a LIFETIME guarantee, to give you absolute peace of mind.

Over 70% of homes in the UK have a flat roof incorporating a mineral felt finish – that's seven out of ten home owners with a potential flat roof problem...

Mineral felt is prone to a slow breakdown, often allowing water ingress to cause unnecessary problems before being visibly detected within the home. Mineral felt has tendency to blister throughout summer months and eventually becomes brittle and cracks during colder periods. Cracking will also appear around the exposed edges and other points of detail, e.g. around pipes, skylights, flashings into brickwork or under tiles, etc. These areas are where workmanship is most crucial. Felt also attracts moss and algae, further degrading the roof surface.

It is important every homeowner carefully checks their insurance policy. In our experience, a flat roof over ten years and leaking may not be covered by the homeowner's insurance policy. When making a claim,

The Problem

we understand that unless it is proven storm damage causing a flat roof to leak the damage could be seen as wear and tear or poor workmanship; this will leave the homeowner with the financial burden not only for external but also for internal repairs.

In 1999, High-Tech Roofing first introduced the most advanced flat roof technology to the homeowner. Protan, based in Norway, has a pedigree in the design and manufacture of waterproofing materials dating back to 1939, and producing the first roofing membrane in 1971. Protan is our preferred PVC single-ply flat roofing system. Protan will cope with all climates, as millions of square meters are installed here and abroad with a proven track record stretching over four decades. Protan is predominantly an architect-specified roofing system, winning many awards and serving the very competitive commercial sector.

High-Tech has installed and proudly guarantees, over 8000 flat roof installations throughout Essex, Kent and London regions.

A High-Tech roof is dimensionally stable and solar reflective, it is unaffected by climate change and 100% resistant to moss and algae. As it is vapour permeable, it can never blister or become brittle and crack. We will create an anti-slip 100% storm resistant watertight roof-maintenance free and guaranteed never to leak.
